POPULACE

JOURNAL OF PUBLIC HEALTH & EPIDEMIOLOGY

JOURNAL FACT SHEET

ABOUT THE JOURNAL

Populace Journal of Public Health and Epidemiology is an international, peer-reviewed, open access journal publishing rigorous research in public health and epidemiology from all regions of the world. It gives particular attention to research from resource-limited settings and underserved health systems, where reliable evidence is most needed to guide health policy and practice.

> Launch offer: no article processing charges for manuscripts submitted by 31 December 2026. Inaugural issue: Women's Health.

SCOPE

- Infectious diseases, HIV and antimicrobial resistance
- Surveillance, outbreaks and health emergencies
- Maternal, newborn, child and adolescent health, sexual and reproductive health and nutrition
- Non-communicable diseases, cancer and healthy ageing
- Mental health, disability and rehabilitation
- Social determinants, health equity and health promotion
- Health systems, policy, economics and digital health
- Environmental, occupational, climate and One Health
- Population health, demography and programme evaluation
- Research methods, biostatistics, clinical research and evidence synthesis

EDITORIAL MODEL

Technical check and editorial screening: within 10 days of submission

Peer review: double-anonymous, at least two independent reviewers

Statistical review: for manuscripts with substantial quantitative analysis

Target first decision: 6 to 8 weeks from submission, never at the expense of quality

Publication: continuous, online as soon as articles are ready, with a DOI for each article

Languages: English or French; articles in French include an English title, abstract and keywords

Ethics: policies aligned with COPE, ICMJE and the Principles of Transparency

ARTICLE TYPES

- Original research articles
- Systematic reviews and meta-analyses
- Short communications
- Study protocols
- Outbreak and public health emergency reports
- Case reports with public health relevance

OPEN ACCESS

Licence: CC BY 4.0

Access: free to read for everyone, immediately

Reuse: articles may be shared and adapted with attribution

Copyright: authors retain copyright of their work

ARTICLE PROCESSING CHARGES

Standard APC: USD 500, payable only after acceptance. No submission, page or colour figure fees. Automatic reductions by World Bank income group of the corresponding author's country:

Income group	Reduction	APC
High income	0%	USD 500
Upper-middle income	50%	USD 250
Lower-middle income	85%	USD 75
Low income	90%	USD 50
Low income and on the World Bank fragility and conflict lists	100%	Full waiver

No application needed. Full list by country on the Article Processing Charges page.

OUR COMMITMENTS

- Articles free to read and reuse under CC BY 4.0
- Fees adjusted to country income, with full waivers for low-income fragile and conflict-affected settings
- Editorial decisions independent of fees and of the publisher
- Double-anonymous peer review, with statistical review of quantitative work
- Transparent policies aligned with COPE and ICMJE

STANDARDS

Reporting: EQUATOR guidelines (STROBE, CONSORT, PRISMA, CARE, SPIRIT, COREQ or SRQR), with the completed checklist

Research ethics: ethics approval and informed consent are required for research involving human participants

Archiving: long-term preservation through the PKP Preservation Network

HOW TO SUBMIT

1. Create an account at populacejournal.org
2. Read the Author Guidelines and use the title page and anonymised manuscript templates
3. Submit online through the journal platform

CONTACT

editorial@populacejournal.org

populacejournal.org

Scan to visit the journal

Published by Populace Publishing Ltd, an independent scholarly publisher registered in England and Wales (Company No. 17483684) | populacejournal.org